About Strasbourg, France

Strasbourg is a modern, multicultural city of great significance to European leaders. It is the official seat of the European Parliament, the Council of Europe, and the European Court of Human Rights, making it a central hub for political and business leaders. As a university town with a vibrant cultural scene, Strasbourg offers students an exciting study abroad experience at the heart of European decision-making and global dialogue. Students will live and study at the European Study Center (ESC), which is housed in the historic Château de Pourtalès.
